

THE EUGENE CONCERT CHOIR PRESENTS ECCO: AN EDUCATION OUTREACH PROGRAM FOR ELEMENTARY STUDENTS

The Eugene Concert Choir's Education Outreach Program (ECCO) is in its third season of bringing an in-class educational presentation to your students as part of our educational mission. This year the program will feature folk songs from English-speaking cultures. This program is offered free of charge.

A small ensemble of choir singers will present a 35 minute lesson to your class. As the children learn songs from the international folk song repertoire, they are introduced to basic musical concepts such as melody, harmony and rhythm. The students are active participants throughout the presentation.

We will provide you with a Teacher Educational Packet of supplemental materials when we visit. Your class will receive a CD of the songs presented so you can continue with the lesson content and expand it if you and the children choose. We can also return for additional presentations if requested.

We are pleased to have Kathryn Leonard return as Music Director this year. Mrs. Leonard earned a Bachelor of Music degree in Vocal Performance-Pedagogy Concentration from Marylhurst University and is currently on the faculty of the John G. Shedd Institute for The Arts where she teaches voice and piano. She also designs elementary curriculum for the Music Box program at the Institute. This summer Mrs. Leonard had a starring role in the musical "Boys From Syracuse," presented by the Shedd Institute.

To receive an application form, contact ECCO Education Coordinator Jennifer McConochie at 541-344-9237 or by e-mail: mcconochie4133@comcast.net.