Walt Disney Pictures a film directed by Andrew Stanton. Written by Andrew Stanton. 100 minute. Rated G (for very mild violence/gore.)

The first glimpse of a underwater journey were a timid clownfish rushes to rescue his son who has been taken to be put in a fish tank. Marlin finds Dory a fish with memory loss and really pippy attitude. Along the way we met a sarcastic shark and a radical turtle.

“Finding Nemo” a story that jumps place to place which has a bunch of adventure stories but still engages the reader what other story could be like that. TinkerBell by Jeffrey Howard also has lots of stories and even in part of a TinkerBell movie there was a time when Tinker gets caught by a human and has to be rescued by her family and friends. This is also like Nemo because the whole point of this story is that Nemo got snatched and his family has to save hime.

Adventure stories a big part of the movie or by adventure stories I mean the plot along the journey to the eventual goal to succeed or save Nemo. This is portrayed in TinkerBell The Great Fairy Rescue. TinkerBell and the fairies went to a fairy camp close to the mainland and TinkerBell went into the human house and got caught by the girl named Lizzy and the rest of the movie is about getting Tinker back and out of the girl's cage that is keeping Tinker hostage. Like Nemo the story starts the same way.

Nemo starts with a flashback of the night Marlin's wife is taken by a vicious barracuda along with all the eggs but one, with a crack in side of the last egg Marlin mourns his last baby. When the egg is finally hacked the movie flashes forward to Nemo's first day of school were Marlin is upset and does not want to let his baby go. Nemo gets on the octopus bus which also happens to be their teacher then Nemo gets curious when he sees the edge of the school that leads to a abyss. He sees a scuba diver and his friends dare him to go out to it and then gets snached by the scuba diver. This eventually gets around to Marlin and he freaks out.

Marlin decides to go find Nemo at all costs. He sets out on an adventure where he finds a fish named Dori. Dori is really adventures and happy but, she has short term memory loss so it takes a while before she remembers that they are setting out to find Nemo, Marlin's son. On their way they meet to sharks named Bruce a great white and a hammerhead shark named Anchor and chum a tiger shark. Dori and Marlin politely ask Bruce if he had known away to find Nemo. But Bruce, Anchor, and Chum fake threaten to eat them. The find out that the sharks are supposed to be a vegetarian but when he smelled blood he chased Nemo until a missile from the ship that Bruce lived in blew up, After the explosion was over they started they adventure to find Nemo again.

They find a jellyfish field a Dori begins to play with the tops of the jellyfish until she gets shocked and knocked out. Marlin tries to save her but then also gets shocked and knocked out to. When Marlin woke up he woke up on a turtle back in a water vortex. In that migration they ask a turtle named Crash if he knew were they were. Crash was telling Marlin that Dori was okay and that when you exit that you can continue to land.

Then when the clip of Nemo getting out of the fish tank with a help of Gill which Nemo befriends in the fish tank. When Nemo gets back into the water he gets caught in a net which he is later found by Dori and Marlin which they are reunited and return back to their home were Nemo goes to school and Marlin feels more comfortable with Nemo going to school and that's how "Finding Nemo" ends.

This movies sparks young kids to see a adventure story that provides a sense of suspense and a family that needs to be together. This brings audiences to the theater because of the animated cute Nemo that is helplessly lost and watchers will want to see if he will ever be found.

This movie was well made and incorporates lots of aspects that young children and parents will enjoy and only a 100 minutes of run time. This underwater the adventure has been praised by lots of parents and children. This was given a 99% rotten tomatoes by a audience and that was 15 years so it is still praised today. But in my opinion from a child state I would give Finding Nemo a four stars out of five.
