

Name:

Date:

Chapter 32-3: Primates & Human Origins

Across

1. earliest group of hominoids, earliest known primate species thought to be ancestral to humans
2. a prehensile ___ adapted for tree living is a characteristic of New World Monkeys
3. ___ World Monkeys evolved in Africa and include baboons
4. hominid species of primates evolved a hand with an opposable ___ that allowed grasping objects and using tools

Down

1. most primates have ___ vision, the ability to merge visual images from both eyes
2. primates normally have five flexible _____
3. a primate's ___ are constructed to allow their arms to rotate in wide circles
4. the well-developed ___ of primates allows them to display more complex behaviors than many other mammals
5. early branch of primates, small, includes the lemurs of Madagascar

5. two-foot locomotion, characteristic of primate genus Homo
6. hominoid species more recent than australopithecus, thought to be a dead-end branch of our family tree

6. human-like primates - basically, all primates that are not prosimians, includes New World Monkeys and Old World Monkeys & Apes
7. Old World Apes that include chimps, gorillas, bonobos, orangutans & humans