

Review, 1.1-1.2

- Iago and Roderigo wake up Brabantio, Desdemona's father, to tell him that his daughter has run off with Othello.
- Despite the fact that Othello is well-respected as a general, Brabantio (a Venetian senator) still is not okay with Desdemona marrying Othello because of his race.

Review, 1.1-1.2

- Iago pretends to be Othello's friend and warns him of Brabantio's anger.
- Cassio (Othello's lieutenant) arrives to tell Othello that the Turks are preparing to attack Cyprus and they will soon be at war.
- Iago tells Cassio that Othello and Desdemona have gotten married.
- Brabantio angrily confronts Othello and accuses him of some terrible things. Othello does not fight.