

Act IV; Scene II-Reading Log Entry #11

Lodovico comments on how the Venetians had always considered Othello to be a man with great self-control.

Write about whether you consider a lack of emotion in a man to be an admirable quality or not. Relate your response to Othello.

What does it say about Venetian society that such a lack of emotional response was greatly valued in a leader?