

Capitalize the first and last word of all titles

My brother reads Goodnight Moon to his stuffed animals every night.

Also capitalize the "in between words" except for these:

FANBOYS (conjunctions)	for, and, nor, but, or, yet, so
Prepositions	of, in, on, at, to, as, by, with
Articles	a, an, the

Every morning, Galen reads The Cat in the Hat while eating her cereal.

Once I finished the first chapter of The Lord of the Flies, I couldn't put it down.

I loved the book A Wrinkle in Time when I was a kid.

Also note that the titles of long-form works like books are italicized and not put in quotation marks.

Fix any capitalization errors below

Annoyed that he could not find the remote, Chris Martin watched in episode of avatar against his will.

Annoyed that he could not find the remote, Chris Martin watched in episode of Avatar against his will.

The teacher asked Joey Tribbiani to read the poem “little miss muffet” out loud to the class.

The teacher asked Joey Tribbiani to read the poem “Little Miss Muffet” out loud to the class.

On a whim, Mrs. Prince decided to submit a poem to the new yorker.

On a whim, Mrs. Prince decided to submit a poem to The New Yorker.