

Flash Project Elevator Speech

This project is about two guys that were playing football. The football is thrown on top of a building and they can't get to it. They try standing on each other, jumping, using a ladder, and end up blowing a hole in the football. It will include crashing and exploding sounds. I will use the bone tool to move the characters body parts (and blow up the world because I am secretly a super evil villain and I am only here so I can learn how to make videos so that I can show people how I will blow up the world as I prepare to do so). I will import pictures for the faces, dresser, explosive, and football.
