

Oregon County Population

In the data below it shows the population for counties in Oregon. They all have at least 1,000 people.

From the data above I can tell that Lane County has the most population. I can also tell that Lake County has the least.